

QUIVIRA DRY CREEK ZINFANDEL NAMED WINE OF THE WEEK IN THE

September 27, 2019

In this week's edition of the Press Democrat, the 2016 Quivira Zinfandel from Dry Creek in Sonoma was awarded wine of the week. The world is erupting with a love for less jammy, alcohol forward red wines to pair with food. Despite some stigma's about zinfandel being notorious for its extremely ripe flavors and dizzying alcohol content - many producers within northern California are working hard to create a much more balanced representation of the grape. Peg Melnik writes his review of Quivira Dry Creek Zinfandel 2016 as follows:

"[...] zin a standout is it's jammy fruit, it's crisp acid, and it's snappy spice[...]"

Quivira Zinfandel Dry Creek

Read the Full Article Here

<http://chamberswines.com/news/quivira-dry-creek-zinfandel-featured-in-the-press-democrat>

CHAMBERS & CHAMBERS WINE MERCHANTS

www.chamberswines.com

